Senate to Pass SOME Form of Bonus Bill Without Delay

SENATE WILL PASS A BONUS MEASURE, SAYS M'CORMICK

House Bill May Be Changed
but Will Go Through, Says
Illinois Member.

PAY BY CERTIFICATES.

Asserts Country Easily Can Absorb Issue—Silent on Possible Veto.

By David Lawrence.
(Special Correspondent of The Evening World.)

WASHINGTON, March 28 (Copy Right).—The Soldier Bonus Bill will be passed by the Senate. Those who expect it to be shelved in the Upper House will be disappointed. The measure which already has passed the House may be changed, or even rewritten, but a bonus bill will go through. It will not be buried in committee or delayed on the calendar.

The authority for the foregoing prediction is Senator Medill McCormick of Illinois, a member of the Republican Steering Committee, an Administration Senator and a very good judge of Senatorial sentiment. Like a good many other Senators, Mr. McCormick has kept quiet about the bonus thus far, but he says his silence and that of his colleagues must not be misconstrued.

"How will the money be raised?" he was asked to-day.

"By the sale of Treasury certificates," he said, "and there is ample authority on the statute books to-day to raise the sum needed. We authorized not long ago the issuance of up to ten billions of short-term certificates and only three billion have been issued."

"Could the country absorb such additional certificates?" was the next inquiry.

"Certainly. Why, in the last year approximately $750,000,000 has been invested by Americans in foreign bonds. Also about a billion dollars has been absorbed in municipal tax exempt bonds—and nobody knows how much more."

"Ask the bond houses. They will tell you they can't put issues on the market fast enough to meet the demands of investors. Also, notice the splendid way in which the country has responded to the refunding plan of the Treasury. Here we are with the Victory bonds referred in large part long before the maturity date."

"I am convinced that the country would never feel an issue of short time Treasury certificates sufficient to tide us over—say for two to five years—until the British are able to resume payment to us on the war debt."

Mr. McCormick did not attempt to predict what President Harding would do with the bill if it were passed by both Houses. He is not as sure of a veto as some of his colleagues, though it is evident he, like the others, is counting upon a rewritten Bonus Bill.

The Illinois Senator declares the opposition to the bonus will not succeed in dilatory tactics; in fact, he says those who are against the measure are eager to have it brought up and voted upon and get out of the way as are the proponents of the bill. He seems to think the bonus ought not to be permitted to clog the legislative calendar and prevent other legislation.

GIRLS' THREATS TO MEN FAIL TO ELECT WOMEN

Defeat of Ticket in Iowa Town
Laid to Bachelors.

CHARLOTTE, Ia., March 28.—Charlotte bachelors were given credit to-day for the defeat of the women's ticket in the election here yesterday.

In spite of threats that girls would no longer be eager to have it brought up and voted upon and get out of the way as are the proponents of the bill. He seems to think the bonus ought not to be permitted to clog the legislative calendar and prevent other legislation.

SABULA, Ia., March 28.—The entire women's ticket was defeated here yesterday.

Incendiaries Rouse Belfast
With New Terror of Fire—
Three in Watching Throng
Injured by Bomb Explosion.

BELFAST, March 28 (Associated Press).—Sir James Craig, Premier of Ulster speaking in the Northern Parliament this afternoon in answer to the statement issued yesterday by Michael Collins, head of the Provisional Government, said:

"I would have made no statement at this stage but for the serious charge made by Mr. Collins which may convey the impression that I have not honorably kept my word. I will not deviate one inch from the policy I have pursued from the beginning."

Sir James said that when Mr. Collins signed the agreement with him Mr. Collins had kept him entirely in the dark concerning large territories and not merely concerning the boundary line involved in the Boundary Commission provided for by the Anglo-Irish Treaty.

The Premier denied the charge that he had done nothing for the expelled workers of Belfast. He said Loyalist workers had admitted the principle of reinstating Catholics when trade had revived, but there were 67,000 men unemployed.

"The whole aspect has changed," he said, "since the revelation of predatory attacks being attempted upon the Ulster area. I cannot go on with the agreement when such an interpretation is placed upon it. Mr. Collins is not big enough to stick to his signature."

LONDON, March 28 (Associated Press).—Arthur Griffith, President of the Dail Eireann, and Eamon J. Duggan, Dail Minister of Home Affairs, arrived in London from Dublin this afternoon to attend to-morrow's conference of Irish leaders requested by the British Cabinet in view of the disturbed situation in Ireland.

There was no one at the station to meet them and they drove straight to a hotel, where they declined to see representatives of the press. It was expected they would confer with Winston Churchill, the Colonial Secretary, this afternoon.

Michael Collins, head of the Provisional Government, who has announced his intention of attending the conference, was detained in Dublin by urgent business, but it was understood he would cross to England to-night, as would Sir James Craig, the Ulster Premier.

$210,000 LIQUOR SEIZED ON YACHT AS BULLETS FLY

Nassau Sheriff Takes Cargo of "Edith," Said to Be Owned by Antonio Cassese.

A raid by Sheriff Charles W. Smith of Nassau County and several deputies and constables at Bayville, L. I., last night on the steam yacht Edith, alleged to be owned by Antonio Cassese, resulted in the seizure of about $200,000 worth of whiskey, according to the Sheriff. The authorities said that the whiskey was being loaded onto six motor trucks from the yacht, which had just arrived from Nassau, Bahamas Islands.

Cassese, a tobacco importer, living at South Ozone Park, Capt. Charles Orman of No. 152 Riverside Drive, Manhattan, Engineer John Oerling, Mate John Latimer, Steward John Lines, Fireman Michael Garland of No. 829 Third Avenue, Manhattan, the crew of six, nine helpers, the six truck drivers, and Jose Bolton of No. 316 Twenty-seventh Street, Brooklyn, Cassese's chauffeur, were arrested. There were thirty-two arrests in all.

The men pleaded not guilty before Justice of the Peace Augustus H. Morey at Bayville, who held them for further examination. They were locked up in the county jail at Bayville.

Capt. Orman said that he coasted at Jacksonville, Fla., and about nine miles off Nassau the yacht, which is a pleasure yacht, formerly known as the Saltillo, was loaded. Capt. Orman said he had no idea what the cargo consisted of. The yacht is 111 feet long with sixteen feet beam. On the way back it stopped at Charleston, S. C., according to the captain's story. There, he said, he received a telegram from Cassese ordering him to dock at Bayville, L. I. Capt. Orman said he came in through the Rock Island route, not knowing the Hell Gate route.

When the Sheriff and his force arrived, they were armed with riot guns, and fired a salvo. Thereupon the truck drivers and all on board the boat threw up their hands and were arrested. The whiskey on the trucks was taken to Mineola. The Sheriff said, and put into a store house. It consisted of 1,500 cases of rye whiskey, according to the authorities, and 3,000 bags of six bottles of whiskey each. In addition to the $200,000 worth of whiskey seized on the trucks, the Sheriff said, a truck load, worth about $10,000, was left on the yacht.

Cassese was at the dock to meet the yacht. He declared he knew nothing whatever of the consignment. George McGuire, a salesman, of No. 56 West 11th Street, Manhattan, was also arrested. He said he saw the six trucks at the dock, and went over to see what was going on.

Stolen When She Was 4 Months Old, Sought for 24 Years, Girl Found By Mother She Never Knew

Beatrice De Shaw, Kidnapped in 1898, Learns for First Time That She Has Mother Living in Detroit.

(Special to The Evening World.)

DETROIT, March 28.—The search of more than a score of years for a daughter, kidnapped from her mother when but four months old, has born fruit. The daughter is Beatrice De Shaw, twenty-four years old, a member of the Ziegfeld "Midnight Frolic" chorus in New York. Her mother is Mrs. Walter Graves, who lives at the foot of St. Jean Avenue, in a small house on the bank of the Detroit River. But not until June will the mother and daughter be reunited. Then the chorus girl will come West, her mother, who is in limited circumstances, being unable to finance a trip to the East.

Beatrice was born in the spring of 1898, when Mrs. Graves, then Mrs. Frank Cleveland, was playing with a theatrical troupe in Michigan. Four months later the baby mysteriously disappeared. For four years Mrs. Cleveland, who became Mrs. Graves twelve years ago, searched high and low. Then word reached her that her daughter was with a family in Fenton, Mich. She rushed there, but learned that persons who held the girl refused to relinquish her.

Mrs. Cleveland sought aid, but meanwhile the family vanished, taking little Beatrice with them. In August last Mrs. Graves heard that her daughter was playing in the "Midnight Frolic" chorus. Correspondence followed, the mother said, and proved beyond question that Miss De Shaw was her long lost daughter. "But," Mrs. Graves said, "tears shining through her smiles, 'we will have to content ourselves with letters until 'B' comes West in June.'"

Miss De Shaw, when seen here, was still surprised by realization of.

They were rushed to St. Vincent's Hospital where it was said the two children would live and there was a chance for the recovery of Mrs. Hildebrandt.

FATE OF RICKARD TO BE IN HANDS OF JURY BY NIGHT

Summing Up and Charge by Judge Expected to Be Completed by Six.

DEFENSE IS CONFIDENT.

Steuer Attacks Veracity of Girl
Accusers—Counsel Show Strain.

Max D. Steuer began summing up for the defense in the trial of Tex Rickard, charged with offenses against young girls, at 1 o'clock this afternoon. He planned to take but thirty minutes.

Assistant District Attorney Pecora said he would use every bit of time saved for him by Mr. Steuer's brevity. Justice Wasservogel planned to finish his charge and commit the case to the jury at about 6 o'clock.

The defense approached the end of the trial with obvious confidence. Mr. Steuer and his associates, Hyman Bushel and Senator Sheridan, were smiling broadly when the jury was ushered in after luncheon.

Both Mr. Steuer and Mr. Pecora had lines of weariness in their faces. Mr. Rickard was recalled for continued cross-examination by Mr. Pecora to-day. The questioning was a rapid fire inquiry on widely separate topics, such as his relations with Dr. John H. Richards and newspaper men who have testified in his behalf; the character of the saloons and gambling houses he conducted in Alaska and Nevada; mining camps; his promotions of oil and gold mining companies; his lack of memory as to events of Nov. 5 and Nov. 19 in contrast to his apparently perfect memory of the events of Nov. 12.

Mr. Rickard said he couldn't have remembered the events of Nov. 12 if he had not looked over office memoranda and consulted with his associates. Mr. Steuer instructed him to look up the events of the days a week before and after Nov. 12, but he had since paid little attention to anything except what happened Armistice Day and the day after, which is the date of the indictment charging mistreatment of fifteen-year-old Sarah Schoenfeld.

Rickard sat with his lips compressed tightly when not actually answering questions. He was severely courteous in his manner to the cross-examiner. His words came very rapidly, so the jury had to pay the very closest attention.

"It was my secretary, Mr. Country," said Mr. Rickard, "who reminded me about Nov. 12. He said that was the day we went to the football game. It was the only football game I ever saw."

Mr. Pecora tried to trip up Mr. Rickard on the time he started for.

SCHOONER BOUND FOR N. Y. ASHORE

Clara H. Donnell Goes Aground in Fog Opposite Avalon, N. J.—
Crew Reported Safe.

(Special to The Evening World.)

CAPE MAY, N. J., March 28.—The four-masted schooner Clara H. Donnell, bound for New York from a Southern port, went ashore in a thick fog and driving rain early to-day opposite Coast Guard Station No. 131, Avalon, N. J. The Coast Guard crew, under Capt. McCarthy, went to the assistance of the craft. Capt. H. S. Neaves of the schooner refused with his crew to be taken off until it was found if the schooner would prove a total loss.

The Coast Guard cutter Kickapoo, Capt. J. J. Hutton, is on its way to aid the schooner. The schooner lies on Townsend's Inlet Bar, fourteen miles northeast of here. Capt. Neaves said that unless the wind abated the schooner would be able to tow the schooner off.

BAN ON SMOKING RESCINDED BY ENRIGHT; ORDINANCE NOT PASSED IN ALDERMANIC BOARD

'Let 'Em Smoke If They Want to,' Is Hylan's View

"The Ladies Will Do What They Like Anyhow," He Says of Anti-Smoking Fiasco.

(Special to The Evening World.)

CHICAGO, March 28.—"There never was an ordinance passed in New York forbidding women from smoking in public places, and if there had been I never would have signed it," declared Mayor Hylan of New York emphatically here to-day before he started for home. "While I would hardly recommend smoking as a pastime for women, I certainly am, a firm believer in personal liberty, and if the ladies want to smoke my attitude would be 'let 'em and God bless 'em.' I never, in my Administration, interfered with the ladies for they will do as they please anyway."

"I do not believe that Commissioner of Police Enright issued any such order as that reported stopping women from smoking in cafes and restaurants last night. Some one is evidently trying to play a joke on some one. If any policeman did enter New York cafes and try to enforce such an order it was surely through some misunderstanding or practical joke on some one's part."

The Mayor punctuated his statement with a ring of smoke from his cigar.

Mrs. Hylan shares her husband's liberal views on the subject. "While I personally do not smoke, never have smoked and never will care to I am certainly not so narrow-minded as to think other women should be stopped from smoking if they want to," she said. "Such things should be purely personal matters up to the individual decision. We must not try to regulate people's lives too much by legislation. Women should enjoy the same rights as men and be free to smoke if they enjoy it."

INCUBATOR BABY WILL LIVE; RECORD CASE SAY DOCTORS

Weights 2 Pounds, 3 Ounces, at Birth, Gains Pound and Ounce in Fortnight.

Physicians are taking much interest in the fight for life, apparently successful, of an incubator baby at the New Rochelle Hospital. The baby is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Friedman of No. 72 Mechanic Street, and was born on March 13, weighing two pounds and three ounces. At the end of the first fortnight the child had gained one pound and one ounce.

Hospital authorities said the baby had won his fight and the case will be a record one. Four tanks of oxygen have already been used in the effort to keep the baby alive. Friedman is a confectioner at New Rochelle.

LANDLORDS SO GREEDY CHICAGO QUITS FLATS

5,000 Now Vacant and Thousands of Families Plan Summer in Tents.

CHICAGO, March 28.—There are 5,000 vacant flats in Chicago to-day and by June 1 that number will be doubled, says M. B. Walsh, Secretary of the Tenants' League. The reason, he says, is that prices are too high.

Landlords are asking anywhere from $15 to $25 a month for them, and people can't pay. Mr. Walsh declared. With fine weather, he says, thousands of apartments will be vacated by families who will move in tent colonies in the forest preserves surrounding the city. Last summer, it was estimated, 15,000 families saved rent by this practice.

Blame for Transmitting It as Approved Law Upon Employee in the Office of the City Clerk.

Sponsor Says He Will Now
Introduce an Ordinance to Close All Cabarets and Resaurants at Midnight.

Learning to-day that the ordinance upon which he based his order, dated yesterday, which would have prohibited women from smoking in public places, never passed the Board of Aldermen and never was signed by the Mayor, Police Commissioner Michael Enright rescinded it at noon and sent it to his office to-day. He said the order was issued by mistake.

The explanation is that the ordinance was printed in the City Record on Jan. 26. A single line under the ordinance read:

"The Vice Chairman moved that the foregoing ordinance be placed on file."

Then followed a record of the vote showing that 55 Aldermen had voted to file the resolution and three had voted for its adoption. This action eccectually killed the ordinance.

SENT IT ALONG AS IF IT HAD PASSED.

In due course action was taken by Daniel McCoy, resolution clerk in the office of City Clerk Michael Cruise. It is the duty of McCoy, who is an elderly man, to clip out of the City Record copies of ordinances which have passed, paste them on specially prepared sheets of paper, note in blanks provided when they were passed and when they were approved by the Mayor and forward them to the heads of departments affected by such ordinances.

McCoy, according to Mr. Cruise, did not see the line carrying the resolution to place the ordinance on file. He thought it had passed by a vote of 55 to 3. And when he got around to it he pasted it on a sheet of paper and sent it up to Police Headquarters with a memorandum that it was passed on March 14 and had been approved by the Mayor on March 21.

The notification is not official unless it is signed by the City Clerk. The City Clerk did not sign this particular notification, but the ordinance was not noticed at Police Headquarters. As a matter of routine, an order was made and passed along to the Police Commissioner and he signed it—or somebody signed it for him.

Surprise was expressed at the City Hall to-day at the action of the Police Commissioner in issuing orders which are a drastic ordinance, with inquiries about it. Every city official who reads the newspapers outside of Police Headquarters knew that the ordinance had been killed two months ago.

This knowledge was also shared by the general public and increased the consternation with which the visits of policemen to hotels, restaurants and cabarets in the theatrical district was greeted last night. The cops, carrying copies of the Police Commissioner's order, insisted that the law was the law and the amazed proprietors and managers of the place visited concluded that the ordinance had been put through by some trick.

NO PUNISHMENT PROVIDED FOR OFFENDERS.

The McGuinness Ordinance did not provide for punishment of women smokers. It restrained owners and managers of any place of public resort from allowing women to smoke in their premises and fixed the penalty at a fine of from $5 to $25, or
